

Pen Green Visit

“Education is not filling a bucket, but lighting a fire”.

yeats

Lorna's Area

Ridhwan

Charlie

Imitation is the sincerest flattery—
Mahatma Gandhi

box 111

Home
Sweet
Home

Hello, how are you?
Hello, how are you?
Hello, how are you?
How are you today?
It's good to see you.

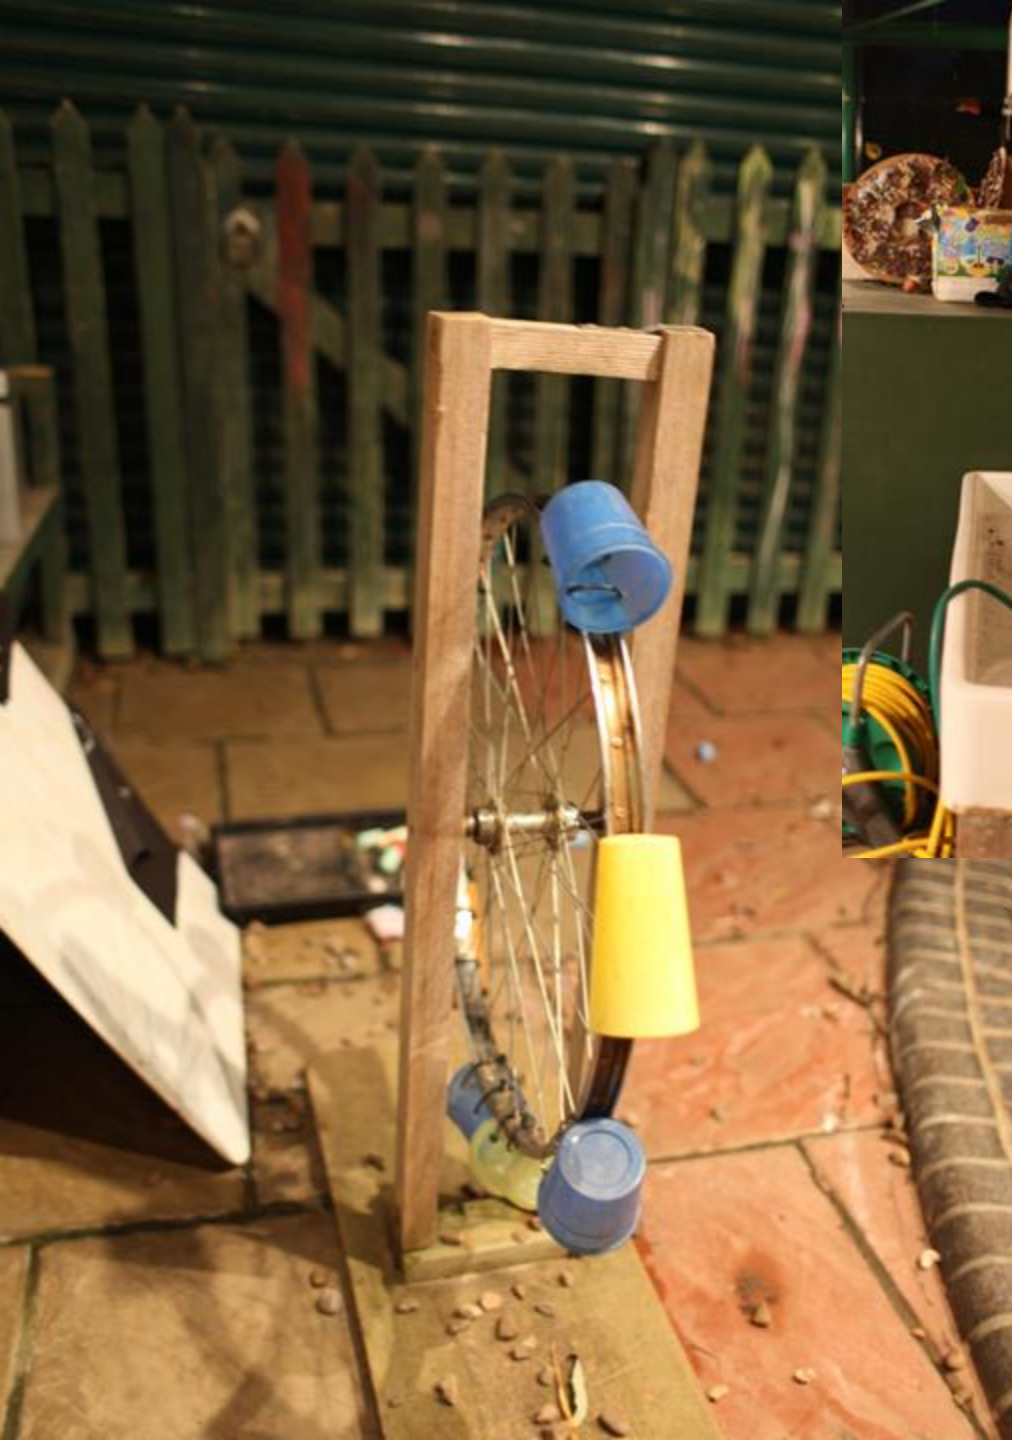

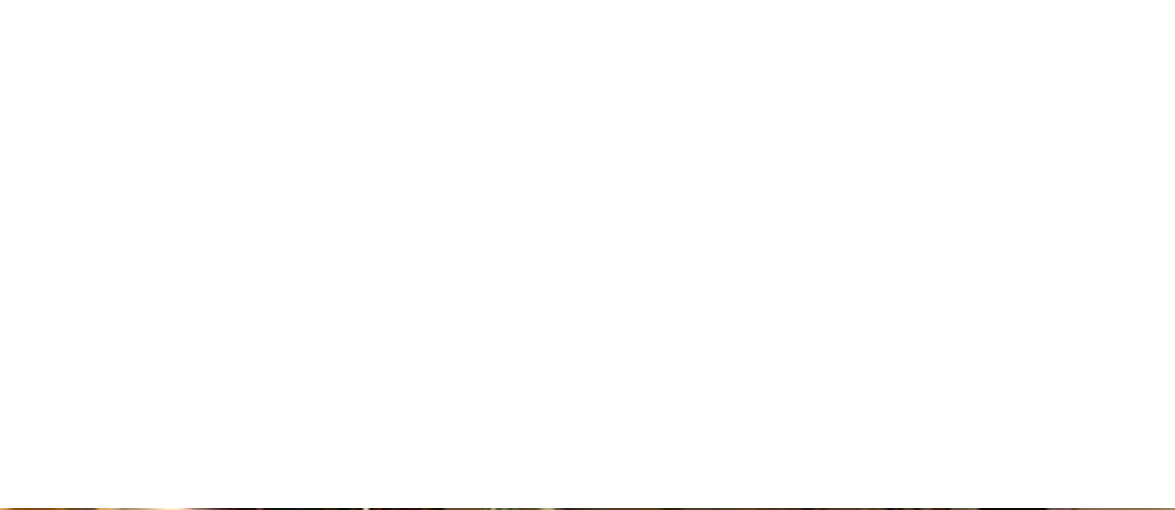

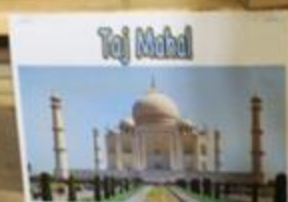

Large group of children
the majority of the children were very interested in the activity and they were happy to learn about the different shapes and sizes
of the blocks. The children were very happy to learn about the different shapes and sizes of the blocks.
The children were very happy to learn about the different shapes and sizes
of the blocks.

With the help of the teacher, the children were able to learn about the different shapes and sizes of the blocks. The children were very happy to learn about the different shapes and sizes of the blocks.

area 100 7

Play spaces

Our Visions and Values

Support children's individual rest & sleep rhythm.

Listen & take the time to develop relationships with the whole family, & respect their wishes

Aim to create an environment that is safe, full of fun & laughter where children & adults are able to make choices & take risks.

Support children's high levels of involvement & protect their play by allowing them to explore their environment with all their senses. To be messy if they choose to be.

Communicate with other professionals in partnership with the whole family, to support the best outcomes for the child.

Hold each child in mind, building strong relationships to ensure they feel special.

Try to understand children's intentions. We will respond & give children the time to explore their environment & be aware of individual child's interests, curiosities & excitement.

Provide healthy meals, encouraging children to experience new tastes & texture.

Give children access to outside areas in all weather.

Be committed to our own continuous professional development & supporting each other. Having time to reflect on & improve our practice.

During our discussions as a team we have generated the following statements, which reflect our beliefs in the Nest and the Couthie.

Trust that children are able to make their own choices, take risks & express their own feelings. We will do this by giving them space & time, knowing that an adult is close by to offer support if needed.

Our image of the child.

- To feel safe, confident, happy & secure within their environment.
- Their feelings to be acknowledged & contained.
- To be able to make choices, feel in control & assert themselves.
- To have fun & laugh!
- To develop positive relationships with both family worker & peers- to feel special.
- To be creative, Curious & take risks.